

PSYC110M : Introduction to Psychology

This course is an introduction to various areas of psychology, including scientific investigation and prominent theories. Topics include, but are not limited to: motivation; emotions; personality; physiological foundations of behavior; psychological disorders and therapy; sensation and perception, learning and human development. Prerequisite: placement into ENGL110M. (Fulfills Social Science elective)

Theory Hours 3

Lab Hours 0

Credits 3